OUR BELOVED

The College Chapel, one of the outstanding Gothic structures in America, a high point of Trinity's campus life.

The Bishop, in a perpetual blessing to Trinity College.

New England fall adds beauty to arched entrance of Library.

ALMA MATER

Heartbeat of Trin's scholastic endeavoring is the "long walk."

A recent edition to dormitory existence is simple, quiet beauty of Elton Hall.

Williams Memorial—where bills are paid, grades and cuts recorded, and last minute library study accomplished.

On Saturday, November 11th, 1950, immediately following the Amherst-Trinity football game, President G. Keith Funston and Librarian Arthur Adams broke the ground for the new Trinity Library to be built between the Chemistry Auditorium and the tennis courts. The short ceremony was highlighted by the use of a century-old spade belonging to David Watkinson, one of the founders of Trinity College.

dedication

ARTHUR ADAMS, B.A., M.A., Ph.D., B.D., S.T.M.

Dr. Adams, known affectionately to undergraduates as "Putty," represents more of Trinity than anyone now on campus. He came to Trinity in 1906 as Assistant Professor of English in charge of Freshman work, teaching electives in Anglo-Saxon and Public Speaking. The college, under Flavel Sweeten Luther, had 185 students, 25 faculty members and five buildings. Dr. Adams has been a full Professor of English since 1911, Librarian since 1915, and Registrar since 1919.

Dr. Adams was a collaborator on the Wordsworth and Gray concordances and he has made numerous contributions to the Modern Language Association publications and the Dictionary of American Biography. He has done extensive work in American geneology and is President of the American Society of Geneologists and Editor-in-Chief of the New England Historical and Geneological Register. He is a member of over 90 geneological and patriotic organizations.

It is fitting that upon his retirement, a new Library, one of his fondest dreams, is nearing realization. In one sense Dr. Adams can never retire from Trinity. He has been too much a part of its growth and tradition. He has truly lived up to the college's motto, "Pro Ecclesia et Patria."

ARTHUR ADAMS

In Memoriam

Irwin Alfred Buell

B.A., M.A., Ph.D.

June 8, 1896 — May 1, 1950

Dr. Buell devoted twenty years of his life to Trinity as Director of Extension and Summer Schools. Under his supervision, those divisions of the college grew considerably in size and importance and made significant contributions to adult education in the community. As head of the Education Department in the undergraduate school he was ever available for friendly counsel. He gave of himself unstintingly to his students and to the college.

In Memoriam

Harold Russell Shetter

B.S.

Sept. 18, 1923 — May 3, 1950

Those of us who knew "Hal" Shetter could not fail to be inspired by his contagious humor, spirit, and determination. He gave us a greater respect for hard work, courage, fair play, and for humility. The last soccer team he coached won five games, tied one, and lost one. It was largely due to "Hal's" efforts that soccer became a major sport at Trinity.

PRESIDENT

G. KEITH FUNSTON

Youth, ambition, and spirit are the three main characteristics of Trinity's president, G. Keith Funston. These are the characteristics that have endeared him to the heart of each and every Trinity man. With the wholehearted support of the undergraduates, as well as the alumni, President Funston, valedictorian of the class of 1932, has made such dreams as the Memorial Field House, Elton

Hall, and the new Library become realities. In addition, the scholastic average of Trinity students has increased and the school's sports status has greatly improved. President Funston believes that the quality of leadership is inherent in every student, and that it is the duty of the college to bring this quality to the fore.

DEAN OF THE COLLEGE

ARTHUR HUGHES

Arthur Hughes, besides being the Dean of the college, is also a professor of modern languages. A very familiar figure on the Trinity Campus, Dean Hughes has resumed teaching German this year. He is a perfectionist, a glutton for work, and a very able teacher. His friendly manner makes him an easy person to know and a sympathetic advisor to all the students. A brilliant student, he graduated from John Hopkins College in 1927, earned a Master's Degree in 1929, a Ph.D. in 1931, and has recently received an honorary Doctoral Degree from Trinity. Dean Hughes served as Acting President of Trinity from 1943 until 1945.

DEAN OF STUDENTS

JOSEPH CLARKE

Dean Clarke, better known as Joe Clarke, has been the Dean of Students for the past two years. A tireless worker, he devotes much of his time listening to the problems of the students. Switching majors, dropping courses, over-cutting, and similar student problems are taken in stride by Dean Clarke. He graduated from Springfield College in 1929 and came to Trinity to coach the swimming teams. In 1932, he received his master's degree from Trinity. Later, he was appointed Dean of Students, but continued to coach the tankmen. He is one of the most well-liked members of the Trinity faculty.

CLASS HISTORY

In many respects the Class of 1951 has enjoyed a unique career at Trinity College. Many of its members have been or are now on the fringes of national military crisis. At Matriculation, there were 67 veterans of World War II in the class. At Graduation, more than a score of the members of the Class of 1951 will have served in both wars before the new war is brought to an end. The almost certain advent of Universal Military Service will surely encroach upon the lives of the majority of the class, though perhaps not until after Graduation.

Having enjoyed a reasonable normality, therefore, the Class has responded and contributed in good measure to the revival of normality and the furthering of traditional institutions at Trinity College. Sports teams on all levels have met with a consistent string of victories which has sounded throughout New England. There has been a revolution in the field of that intangible known as "School Spirit." Participation in sports and in all other extra-curricular activities is no longer merely passive, but is now fired with the flame of enthusiasm. New organizations have been formed, new fraternities have been accepted on campus, the old ones have been revitalized, and membership in all these is at an all-time high level. The plan of delayed rushing has resulted in a marked improvement in the fraternity system, and the freshmen somehow have become fully indoctrinated with the new Spirit, as evidenced by the Dinks, the parties, and the annual bout with the Sophomores.

As with our career at the college, so too with the college itself, Between the times of our Matriculation and Graduation, we have seen the completion of Elton Hall and the Memorial Field House. Further, we have watched the construction of the new College Library, and we have seen our College respond to the needs of the nation by incorporating into the curriculum an Air ROTC program.

We are proud, therefore, of the spiritual and physical growth of our College during this time, and to have been a part of it.

The Junior Class, proud owners of the Lemon Squeezer, spent the year trying to forget that Local Board 21 was breathing down their necks. The Junior Prom was a success and other social activities received their wholehearted support. On the athletic fields, they continued to be an asset to the Hilltoppers. Intellectual endeavor soared to new heights under the stimulus of the draft. Activities were another field trampled upon by the Juniors and the Class considers its year a success.

The Class of '53 is the first class since the war to be made conspicuous by the absence of veterans from its ranks, marking the college's return to its pre-war level. Though the Class of '53 lost the traditional Frosh-Soph Tussle both years in which they were involved, the Sophomores have the distinction of holding the highest scholastic average in college for the past year. As freshmen, members of the class were chosen to participate in a voluntary extra-curricular seminar, the first of its kind to be instituted in an undergraduate school, in which students and faculty alike discussed the merits and limitations of freedom.

The Class of '54 entered Trinity as the fourth post-war class, but soon found themselves in somewhat the same position as the frosh group of 1941. Well over half the class recognized the imminency of the draft by signing up for ROTC.

The frosh entered wholeheartedly into college activities, however, and soon proved their athletic prowess by developing an undefeated soccer team and a basketball squad that upset mighty Holy Cross in the season's most thrilling game.

The spirit of the freshmen was also shown in their victory in the annual frosh-soph tussle and in several informal snowball fights. Barring the interference of Uncle Sam, the Class of '54 should set a fine record at the college.

DELTA PSI

The Epsilon Chapter of the fraternity of Delta Psi was founded in 1850, the first national fraternity at Trinity. In 1878, the chapter house, which dominates the campus' highest ground, was completed.

The chapter celebrated its first hundred years at Trinity on the weekend of October fourteenth, with the return of many loyal graduate brothers.

Having completed a very successful rushing period in which twenty sophomores were pledged, the Epsilon chapter begins its next century with pride in its ideals.

Besides having won the Alumni Cup for intramural sports, we have many brothers active in football, squash, baseball, lacrosse, swimming, and track. Our increased interest in extra-curricular activities is a source of satisfaction to us because through loyal participation in college life the brothers best serve the interests of their college and fraternity.

Alpha Delta Phi, founded in 1832 at Hamilton College, is one of the oldest national college fraternities in the United States. It has been a pioneer fraternity in eleven colleges and was the first to establish a chapter in the Middle West. The fraternity has followed a conservative policy of expansion, entering only the leading colleges and universities in the United States and Canada, until now it has twenty-seven active chapters.

The alumni body of Alpha Delta Phi includes many distinguished leaders, among whom are Theodore Roosevelt, Franklin D. Roosevelt, John D. Rockefeller and Henry R. Luce. Alpha Delta Phi is also proud of its brothers on the Trinity faculty. In addition to President G. Keith Funston, there are Henry A. Perkins, Professor Emeritus of Physics; Edward L. Troxell, Professor of Geology, and J. Bard McNulty, Assistant Professor of English.

Founded in 1844 at Yale, Delta Kappa Epsilon now comprises fifty chapters in colleges and universities throughout the country. D.K.E. established its fifteenth chapter at Trinity College in 1879.

This year's sterling football team sported six Dekes on the squad. The Hilltoppers were captained by "Whitey" Oberg, a member of the Senate and the president of Alpha Chi.

At present the house is composed of thirty-five brothers and pledges in sundry draft classifications, actively participating in various activities "around the quad."

In 1842, when Trinity was situated where the State Capitol now is, and was known as Washington College, a society called Beta Beta was started. The founders, a small but enthusiastic group, agreed that the Beta Beta should, as its primary endeavor, strive to further the scholastic, intellectual and literary talents of its members.

Forty years later, the national fraternity of Psi Upsilon incorporated the Beta Beta as an active chapter.

When Trinity moved to its present site in 1878, the chapter purchased its house at 81 Vernon Street, and today, has become firmly established as one of the twenty-nine active chapters in the United States and Canada.

At present, as a result of deferred rushing and the demands made by the armed forces, the Beta Beta's normal complement of forty-five men have been reduced to thirty-eight.

The fraternity of Alpha Chi Rho was founded here at Trinity College in 1895. Since that time, the fraternity has grown to its present size of nineteen active chapters at leading colleges and universities all over the country. Phi Psi chapter has the honor of being the only national fraternity ever founded at Trinity College.

The aim of Alpha Chi Rho is to secure a membership of the highest standard, thoroughly homogeneous in quality, and permanent in its allegiance and effort both for the fraternity and the college, not merely during college days, but throughout life.

The fraternity also urges good scholarship, and has been high on the list of fraternities here at Trinity in that field.

ALPHA CHI RHO

DELTA PHI

Founded in 1827 at Union College, Delta Phi claims the distinction of being the third oldest American college fraternity. The nine founders, five of whom were members of Phi Beta Kappa, stated that their objects and purposes were to "consolidate their interests and at the same time mutually benefit each other," to maintain a high standard of scholarship and gentlemanly conduct, and to foster amicable and fraternal relations.

When, in 1917, eighteen men were granted a charter to form the Sigma Chapter at Trinity, the fraternity merged with the oldest local fraternity in the country—the I.K.A. Society, formed here in 1829.

In the course of its career at the college, Delta Phi has been well noted for its literary and scholastic achievements, and is at present represented on the faculty by Dr. Arthur Adams.

The fraternity of Sigma Nu was founded at Virginia Military Institute in 1869, and established at Trinity in 1918. Sigma Nu is one of the largest fraternal organizations in the country, having at present one hundred and five chapters in forty-seven states. It is the largest national fraternity on the Trinity campus.

This year has been a busy one at Delta Chi. Socially, there have been three big week-end parties, supplemented with several stag and initiation parties, where alumni and brothers mixed. Athletically, Sigma Nu is represented in almost every field of endeavor. There are seventeen lettermen in the house, having attained their awards in every major sport at Trinity. Intramural prospects are looking good at present with high positions in all sports that have ended to date.

TAU ALPHA

Tau Alpha was organized at Trinity College in March of 1949. Since then it has expanded rapidly until now it is one of the most prominent houses on campus. With spirit and good fellowship as its watchword, Tau Alpha has quickly shown that it intends to speedily reach its goal. Its members, all working hard at the difficult task of starting a new fraternity, have made great strides towards the fulfillment of this plan. In the immediate future Tau Alpha hopes to be affiliated with one of the larger national fraternities. Having the strong backing of two highly enthusiastic alumni groups of Alpha Tau Kappa and Phi Gamma Delta, fraternities formerly located at Trinity, Tau Alpha has high hopes for the future. Big strides have also been made in other directions. This year a house was purchased, but since it is being remodernized, the fraternity has taken up temporary quarters in another house.

The Trinity Commons Club, founded in 1931, has gradually become a part of Trinity tradition, stressing participation in college affairs, a spirit of cooperation, and the ideals of brotherhood. The club as a whole has ranked high in scholastic achievement, and has played a part in college activities, including intramural sports and the interfraternity sing.

This year the emphasis has been on the consolidation and improvement of the club's recent gains, in redecorating the lounge and refurnishing the "house" obtained last year in the third section of Jarvis. As in the past, C.T.C. has contributed to the customary round of dances, parties, and banquets and has welcomed back many recent alumni who frequently reappeared throughout the fall upon the usual occasions.

BROWNELL CLUB

In the fall of 1948 five sophomores decided that some organization for the benefit of non-fraternity students was needed at Trinity. In January of 1949 these five students formed a constitution and called a meeting of all neutral students interested in a club. Thirty-eight boys attended this meeting and accepted the constitution.

In the spring of 1949 the club obtained the use of the corner room of Cook "B" dormitory and in the fall Goodwin Lounge was turned over to the club. During this period, the enrollment increased to over fifty and then to ninety-eight. In June of 1950 the club obtained Senate representation and was promised the Campus Cottage, into which the club moved in September of 1950.

Having gained Senate representation and placing high in intramural competition, the club has firmly established itself in campus activities and will continue to foster the interests of the non-fraternity students.

This year saw the Glee Club under the direction of newly appointed J. Lawrence Coulter. Inheriting the organization which had sung in an inspiring performance of Bach's Magnificat with the Radcliffe Choral Society the preceding year, Mr. Coulter proceeded to introduce some modern radio and theatrical techniques to the club. The organization was fortunate in having, for the first time, President Funston's guarantee that no financial obstacles would stand in the way of the club's success. The songsters were given a tape recorder and necessary sound equipment.

For its first performance of the year, the club sang in the "Songs from New England Colleges" series sponsored by the Monsanto Chemical Company and broadcast over the New England Regional Network. The newly acquired repertory of Fred Waring arrangements was warmly received. Other concerts of the year included performances at Hall, Bulkeley, and Hartford High Schools, and concerts with Mount Holyoke and the Sophomore Choir of Smith.

The club numbers fifty singers, over half of whom were freshmen. Soloists included James A. Huck and Donald W. Kimmick. Officers for the year were: President, George E. Becker; Business Manager, Ned K. Kulp; Assistant Business Manager, James A. Huck, and Secretary, Gordon H. Clem.

Pipes

Kneeling: Currie, A. G.; Huck, J. A. Standing: Garrison, R. L.; Shaw, R. L.; Lee, D. W.; Harvey, D. G.; Coholan, P. M.; Kimmick, D. W.

The Pipes of 1951 have sung their way through another successful year. Under the leadership of Dick Garrison, the group added to its enviable record which has been building since 1938 when the octet was formed. Throughout the year the Pipes fulfilled many engagements, delighting audiences all over New England. This is a group that can and does sing any type of song with an equal degree of professionalism.

This year the Bishop's Men, directed by Arthur O'Hanlon, continued to present a colorful selection of college songs, Negro spirituals, humorous numbers, and modern barbershop harmony. The octet is a vital part of the tradition of Trinity, and has earned a reputation for fine singing in Hartford and on other campuses. The Bishop's Men have helped to gain for Trinity a reputation among singing colleges.

Chemistry Club

Last fall, the band was reorganized under the direction of Assistant Professor J. Lawrence Coulter, with Raymond Lang as manager, and Donald Pierce and Justin Northrop as librarians. In previous years the band was a part-time club which played only during football seasons. During the past year, since it was directed by a regular faculty member, it played as a concert band throughout the remaining months. The band marched at the first football game of the season, and at the following games, it presented several novel shows, including the humorous skits which were applauded at Middlebury and at home.

Immediately after the football season, an intensive training course began, which consisted of individual lessons given by Mr. Coulter, sectional practices, and ensemble rehearsals. Shortly after the first of the year, the band waged a vigorous campaign to recruit members and thereby expanded its size to concert proportions. The remainder of the year was spent in building a strong foundation for a future Trinity band.

Due to rapid progress, the band was able to present a number of public performances in which it played both concert and modern music. Furthermore, on several occasions, the organization furnished instrumental accompaniment for the Glee Club.

Chapel Choir

The Carillon of thirty bells, one of fifty-nine in the United States, is played before most chapel services each week by George Becker and Dan Sullivan. Several times each year recitals are played by outstanding visitors, members of the Guild of Carilloneurs of North America. A traditional recital of Christmas Carols, played Christmas Eve before the midnight service, was established by the late President Ogilby when the bells were first installed, and is now played by Chaplain O'Grady. Apprentices, generally confined to the less public practice clavier, try their art on the big instrument before Compline during Advent and Lent.

Canterbury Club

The Canterbury Club is a chartered organization for the Episcopal and Eastern Orthodox students. The club's purpose is to fulfill a program of Worship, Study, Service, Prayer, Giving, and Evangelism. This program is carried out by the members through corporate communions, discussions with prominent speakers, assisting at local parishes, leadership in the Advent and Lenten Compline services, and donations to charitable church organizations.

The Protestant Fellowship was formed in 1947 to fill the need of those of Protestant beliefs. Its members dedicate themselves to the study of Protestantism, its influence, and its duties in contemporary society. It hopes to broaden the cultural background and college life through lectures and discussions.

The officers are: Hank Kipp, President; Irving Hamilton, Vice-President; Ed Simmons, Secretary, and Wallace Rippie, Treasurer.

WRTC, Trinity's campus radio station, had the most successful year in its history. Guided by Station Manager Byard Bridge, assisted by Program Director Don Thomas, WRTC expanded its hours of operation from a previous 40 to 73 hours a week. Although remaining a non-profit organization, needed operating revenue was obtained by Advertising Director Bob Osborne. During the second term the station offered its listeners a complete news service from two teletype machines installed in its own news room. They were particularly blessed with an enthusiastic staff and the exceptional talent of disc-jockeys from the Freshman and Sophomore classes.

The Engineering Club was organized to enable engineering students to become better acquainted and to promote interest in the field of engineering and in current topics. All engineering majors are members of the organization, but membership is open to all interested students.

Professor Harold J. Lockwood is the club's advisor.

The Interfraternity Council is composed of one undergraduate and one graduate member from every fraternity. Its purposes are to improve 'the fraternities' contributions to college life, to enforce rules in regard to fraternity conduct on campus, and to act as spokesman in any relations between the fraternities and the college.

Interfraternity Council

The Sophomore Dining Club, one of Trinity's honor societies, was founded in 1897 by a group of students and faculty interested in furthering the college's public relations. The principal function of the club is to act as host throughout the year for the college by entertaining official visitors on the campus.

SENATE

The Senate is composed of 13 representatives elected annually by the student body and it is the main organ of student government. It supervises the appropriation of all money to student activities, acts to improve facilities for the students, and recommends to the faculty and the Administration.

The Senate, according to its constitution, is responsible for maintaining a high level of conduct among the students of the College and has the authority to deal with violations of College regulations. In the performance of this duty, the Senate is in close contact with the Dean of the Student Body.

The Trinity College football team came close to completing its second consecutive undefeated-untied season this year, bowing in defeat only to Colby by the score of 6-0. Despite this upset the team was considered to be one of the best in the Eastern area. Its attack was the most versatile in New England; the team could pass, kick, run outside or inside at any time without tipping its hand. On the field and in practice it was really a team proposition rather than an individual one, although there were several outstanding performers.

Whitey Oberg, team captain and center, was invaluable in leading the team to the victories they gained. As a defensive line backer he stopped many plays which might have gone for long opponents' gains. He received All New England, All Connecticut, and All East honors at center. Ed Ludorf, the "T" man, one of the best quarterbacks in the country, displayed deceptive ball handling, brilliant strategy and team handling. He was named to the All New England and All Connecticut teams. Dick Garrison was an outstanding receiver, nabbing nine touchdown passes, making him one of the leading scorers in the country. Simoni, DePaolis, Ratcliffe, and Kulas were all instrumental in helping the team's line make way for the backs. Bill Goralski, pace setting junior and next year's captain, was probably the most spectacular back on the team to watch, his speed and elusive running, making and setting up touchdowns time and time again. Billy also took All Connecticut honors, All New England and honorable mention on the Little All American teams, along with Ed Kulas. Ratcliffe, Nissi, Wentworth, and Kulas received mention on the All Connecticut teams also.

As of IVY press time the Trinity basketball team had given us a good idea as to what kind of a team we were going to have this season. They had played eight games and had won six of them. Although the latter half of the schedule seems a bit tougher than the front half, the record so far leaves little doubt that this year's record, when finally entered into the books, will be one of the best turned in by a Trinity basketball team in many a moon, perhaps coming mighty close to last year's record of 14-3.

The team lacks height, having only three men over the six foot mark. But what they lack in height they more than make up for in speed, aggressiveness, and deception. The ball handling is quick and easy and throws many a formidable opponent off guard for just the instant needed to drop the ball through the hoop.

New England

Runner Ups

Bob Jachens, who captains the team, is about the best running guard ever seen at Trinity. He is a great play maker and rebound man. Wallie Novak and Bruno Christolini make a great pair playing together, with Wallie making the set shots, and Bruno taking the lay-ups. Charles Wrinn, playing his first varsity year, looks like another Ron Watson out on the floor. Bob Whitbread, a transfer from New Haven Teachers, is a left-handed player and greatly enhances the versatility of the group. Bill Goralski, "Moon" Curtin, and Dave Smith are the top three substitutes and see action in every game.

Freshman

The squash team had only played two matches when the Ivy went to press and had the misfortune of losing to two strong teams: Navy and Wesleyan. Of the three top men on the squad, John Burbank, captain of the team, is the only one who played the game before coming to Trinity. Dick Stewart played very little, and Bob Drew-Baer never even saw a squash court before coming to college. Judging from the way these boys are coming along it is a great tribute to their ability and to the coaching of Dan Jessee. The squash schedule takes in some of the biggest colleges in New England and even if the record at the end of the year shows more losses than wins the team will still be a good one.

And again, as of IVY time, the Freshman squash team had won both of their starts against worthy forces.

The Lacrosse team, although still an informal sport, managed to turn in a 50% win record, taking four and dropping four. The net slingers were hampered somewhat by wet grounds and rainy days but, nevertheless, managed to beat such teams as Amherst, Nichols Junior College, New England College, and Kingswood.

LACROSSE

The fencing team, another of the Trinity informal sports, turned in an admirable record, considering that it is entirely undergraduate operated. Last year at the national meet they ranked above such teams as Notre Dame, Navy, Yale, Indiana and Columbia.

T E N N I S

The 1950 varsity tennis team, coached by Norman Ecklund and captained by Douglas Donald, finished the season with a "one won, six lost" record. The netmen lost to Springfield College, Amherst, Vermont, Rhode Island, and Massachusetts University before defeating American International College, 6-3. The Wesleyan encounter proved to be an unhappy ending to a singularly unsuccessful season; Wesleyan won, 9-0.

Callan, F.; Burbank, J.; Van Schrader, M.; North, J.; Pappas, M., coach.

G O L F

The 1950 track team completed the best season a track team had had since 1947, winning three of their meets and dropping the same number. The team bowed to Wesleyan, Coast Guard, and Union, while coming out on the long end against Middlebury, W.P.I., and the University of Massachusetts. The first indoor meet in the history of the college was held in the Memorial Field House on March 18 when Trinity played host to Wor. Tech. It was a close meet all the way and the Trinity cinder-men lost this one by the slim margin of two points (44-42). The most outstanding individual record was chalked up by Bob Jachens who continually broke the high jump mark. At the beginning of the season it was 6'1". Now the bar stands at 6'6" and it's a good bet that Bob will soon raise this too.

"Lucky" Ransom, who captained the squad, was another standout performer of the year, never losing a low hurdle race in dual competition. He, along with Jachens, were the two Bantams who placed in the New England Intercollegiates at Springfield. Other men, such as Ben Wilmot, "Mountain" Brown, Newt Leo, Bill McKean, and Dick Garrison helped round out the squad and make it a feared adversary.

Bob Jachens clears 6'4" in a practice jump in preparation for the NCAA meet.

CHEERLEADERS

This year the cheerleaders led by acrobatic Ned Kulp caught everyone's attention. Marl Berdick, with a multi-colored rooster perched atop his hat, and Jerry McLaughlin, a mastermind at dreaming up new stunts, have kept the cheering sections on the ball. Herb Holmquist, "the Swede," and Pete Traver, have added greatly to the entertainment of the crowds. Recently Ken Hamblett and Dick Libby have increased the squad's ranks to seven.

THROUGH the minds of all these ten men . . . from Israel Holmes in 1850 to Roger Gay today . . . has run this same dominant determination: "Make Bristol Brass sheet, rod and wire the way the customer wants it. And the business will take care of itself!"

That code has proved to be, over

100 years, as sound as it is simple. For Bristol Brass has been one of the steadiest corporate ships in this country's industrial economy . . . never off an even keel, never badly storm-battered. But always, as with the merchant clippers from Bristol, England . . . Brass business conducted with the Bristol mills in Connecticut has been found . . . by customers in all industries . . . to be prompt in "getting under way," shipshape and sure-handed in handling, reliable in delivery . . . and, above all, consistent in quality.

The course is set the same, now, as always. And the running lights are bright!
